

The suburbs were not a good place for Jason. He didn't have any friends in his neighborhood.

One day he went to play with his only friend. While he was walking to his friend's Suddenly, something that looked like a meteor fell near his neighborhood. Jason ran over to the place where the meteor fell. He saw a huge crater in the ground.

There lay a UFO.

Suddenly, a door opened. Out came an alien robot.

Jason ran over to his friends' house. "Timmy Timmy there's something you need to see!" Jason shouted. "Wake up wake up!" His friend Timmy was still in bed.

"Ok. Ok, what is it?" He asked.

They ran to where the UFO landed. They saw the UFO but the alien wasn't there.

They turned around to go back but they only found the alien pointing his laser gun at them.

"Hands on your head. Take me to your leader earthlings." The alien said.

Suddenly many other UFOs started landing. Millions of robots jumped out of the ships.

One of them was bigger and tougher. It was the leader.

"Tell me, is this planet Earth?" The leader asked. Jason had to speak.

"Yes. This is Earth." He said. Please say you come in peace, he thought.

"Lieutenant Prepare the invasion." The leader said. "Yes sir."

The aliens broke into houses and captured many people.

High above the Earth the control ship sent more ships to a different place. This time in Asia.

The aliens invaded China and Japan.

Meanwhile, at SOCCENT air force base the crisis continued.

"Sir, take a look at this." Said a soldier. The commander took the piece of paper, and read it.

"This can't be." Said the commander.
"Raptors 1 and 2 , fly east to Scout, Hawaii."
He said. The F-22 raptors raced along the runway.

Jason had been captured by the aliens and there was (obviously) no way to escape. He could only hope that there

Suddenly, his cell door opened. There stood an alien.
"Get out; General Tiggy Wiggy wants to see you." the alien said.

Jason quickly got up, and followed the alien to the throne room.

As the f-22 raptors were searching the sky for aliens. Suddenly, a beam of laser shot at them.

But only one. The other pilot was living in paradise.

"Evasive action, evasive action!" Screamed the pilot. "We're under attack! Return fire!" The pilot went behind the aliens and shot at them. But, the aliens kept dodging their shots. The never got them, and flew back to the base.

After the interrogation, Jason went back to his cell. He wanted to go back to Earth, but he was stuck in a cramped prison cell.

Soon the aliens took control of half the Earth, and population was dropping. The military was getting worried.

Meanwhile, at the White House, President Obama was getting worried too. "Send as many soldiers as we can." President Obama said.

All the Military leaders gathered for an under-ground meeting.

All the troops were ready, but they needed to team up with other countries. They couldn't beat the aliens by themselves.

This was a dark day for everyone. All the branches of the Military were needed. Every soldier from around the world would come.

Jason tried to think of a way to escape. There was an air vent, so tried to climb into it.

But, it made a big noise. The guards came running into the cell.

But, when they got there it was empty.

At the end of the air vent, Jason got into a room. He noticed large green tanks with half made aliens in them.

He was in the alien factory. He had to tell Earth, that they will never beat the aliens. Because they will keep coming.

He thought that he could get into some alien armor, and sneak to Earth. Then he started down a hallway with laser guns.

Then, he took a laser gun and went to the main parking lot.

He looked for something smaller than an UFO. He spotted a Speeder bike. He got in it, and zoomed away.

Meanwhile, the military started to attack the aliens.

"Go, go, go!" Shouted a soldier. "Fire!"

A tank fired at the aliens. The destroyed city, gave the army more cover.

Suddenly, something hit the ground.

It was Jason. He handed the army laser guns. Now, the army could do damage to the aliens.

Jason pressed the multiply button on his speeder bike, so they could all have one.

They went into space, to the control ship. AS they went into space, the control ship sent UFOs to block them. But, they managed to get through.

They shot at the control ship. And the control ship started to collapse. KABOOM!!

The control ship blew up and Jason flew back to Earth.

When he landed, all the humans came out from hiding.

"Yay! Whoo-hoo!" Everyone cheered for him.

Epilogue

Jason grew up to be a good business man. And the aliens that were on earth, were aloud to stay.

